

SWEET FOR STATE CONSABULARY

Wants Corps of Guard Similar to Those of Pennsylvania.

DISCUSSES WORK FOR LEGISLATURE

Marks Asks Governor-Elect's Aid in Market Campaign—No Prosecutor Named.

There was further discussion of the Republican legislative program yesterday, when Speaker Sweet of the Assembly and E. H. Woodbury, Attorney-General-elect, conferred with Governor-elect Whitman and State Chairman Tanner.

Speaker Sweet said no decisions had been reached on any of the matters. It was his impression, however, that the Department of Efficiency and Economy and the Department of Fire Marshal would be abolished and that the Highways Department would be reorganized with the Conservation Commission. In all probability the Conservation Commission would be reorganized, the Speaker added.

One of the things discussed by Speaker Sweet was a state constabulary. He is greatly in favor of a bill to establish this. If it is found to be possible, he would like to see an adaptation of the Pennsylvania system tried in this state.

"I don't know what the attitude of the Legislature will be," said Mr. Sweet, "nor do I know just what conclusion the Governor-elect may reach, but personally I am much in favor of a state constabulary."

Various members of the Legislature are coming to the Governor-elect to enlist his support in the organization of that body. He tells them he is keeping his hands off entirely and that the elected members of each body must choose their own officers. Among the Governor's callers yesterday were Senator J. Henry Walters, of Syracuse, who is a candidate for chairman of the Senate Committee, and Senator-elect A. S. Landon, of Dutchess County. Representative James A. Parker, of Washington County, was another caller.

Borough President Marks of Manhattan, with the Governor-elect for a long time to interest him in a bill that would enable the city to establish markets. He was told that this and other legislation was likely to come before the Governor for his signature. Mr. Whitman did not think it right that he should give an opinion in advance.

The Governor-elect has not decided yet just how far he will go in his legislative program. He is now gathering material. It is probable that there will be a series of messages during the time the Legislature is in session.

Mr. Whitman said yesterday he was not going to announce any appointments yet, but would probably do so Monday. The impression continues to prevail that William E. Hayward is likely to be named as personal counsel.

President of the State is so great that the Governor-elect will be unable to get away for a week-end trip to-day.

MEN AND WOMAN SNAPPED AT BY DOG

Animal That Starts Reign of Terror in West Side Run Down by Police.

A bulldog made two sorties from the New York Central freight yards, bit for bit, and was routed by a lot of boys with stones and it fled back into the freight yard. In the afternoon the animal suddenly appeared in the Columbus Boarding Station, at 690 West 46th st., where it began a reign of terror that included the territory between Eleventh and Twelfth ays. from 42d to 46th st.

The cat died in the morning, and later, before any one had seen it, it was found by a boy who was routed by a lot of boys with stones and it fled back into the freight yard. In the afternoon the animal suddenly appeared in the Columbus Boarding Station, at 690 West 46th st., where it began a reign of terror that included the territory between Eleventh and Twelfth ays. from 42d to 46th st.

The dog buried his teeth in Griffiths' hand and then dashed into the street before the stableman could get in a blow with his pitchfork.

From then on the excitement increased. Snarling and snapping, the dog continued down Eleventh av. with the entire thoroughfare to himself. At 42d st. Patrolman Byrnes, of the West 47th st. station, tried to intercept the animal, but succeeded only in diverting it west. The dog went to Twelfth av. then north to 43d st. and back to Eleventh av. without a victim. Meanwhile a steadily increasing crowd, led by Byrnes, who had obtained a rope, was in pursuit.

At Eleventh av. and 43d st. Thomas Dalton, of 554 West 43d st., was leading a posse. As the bull made a dash for it, he was kicked with his right foot. The strange dog's teeth went right through his shoe.

In front of 556 Eleventh av. an elderly woman, leading a fox terrier, tried to avoid the bulldog, but her dress was torn to shreds and the terrier was bitten. Byrnes finally cornered the dog in a hallway at 625 West 46th st.

Griffiths and Dalton were taken to the Willard Parker Hospital for Past-treatment.

WHITMAN AGAIN IN BECKER CASE

As Governor, Prosecutor Must Hear Appeal if Conviction Is Sustained.

Martin T. Manton, counsel for Lieutenant Charles Becker, announced yesterday he had received the printed record of the trial for presentation to the Court of Appeals. But that the brief for the convicted murderer could not be completed until well into the new year. The printed record makes four volumes of 600 pages each.

Delay in filing the brief brings about an unusual situation. After January 1 Judge Seabury, who presided at the Becker trial, will be a member of the Court of Appeals, but under the circumstances will not sit on the Becker case. District Attorney Whitman, who prosecuted Becker at both trials, and who took charge of the case on the morning of the murder, when it appeared as though the police would wreck it, will be Governor, and it is to him that Becker will have to appeal if clemency in the event that the Court of Appeals sustains the conviction in the lower court.

TIGHT SKIRTS DOOMED

Styles for Next Spring To Be Severe and Practical.

Toledo, Dec. 3.—Women are not going to wear tight skirts any more. Such is fashion's decree for next spring and summer. The designers of American styles for women have decided on that one point, and are going to confirm their decision at the twenty-fifth semi-annual convention of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association, which will open here tomorrow.

Women will wear tailor made suits with plenty of pleats in the skirts. Styles will be much more severe and practical. The coat must be short—about twenty-four inches—with ordinary sleeves, and of a plain, quiet color. Skirts will be about six inches from the ground.

If a single coat is worn with skirt and shirtwaist it will be full from the waist, decorated with belted effects and patch pockets.

There was further discussion of the Republican legislative program yesterday, when Speaker Sweet of the Assembly and E. H. Woodbury, Attorney-General-elect, conferred with Governor-elect Whitman and State Chairman Tanner.

Speaker Sweet said no decisions had been reached on any of the matters. It was his impression, however, that the Department of Efficiency and Economy and the Department of Fire Marshal would be abolished and that the Highways Department would be reorganized with the Conservation Commission. In all probability the Conservation Commission would be reorganized, the Speaker added.

One of the things discussed by Speaker Sweet was a state constabulary. He is greatly in favor of a bill to establish this. If it is found to be possible, he would like to see an adaptation of the Pennsylvania system tried in this state.

"I don't know what the attitude of the Legislature will be," said Mr. Sweet, "nor do I know just what conclusion the Governor-elect may reach, but personally I am much in favor of a state constabulary."

Various members of the Legislature are coming to the Governor-elect to enlist his support in the organization of that body. He tells them he is keeping his hands off entirely and that the elected members of each body must choose their own officers. Among the Governor's callers yesterday were Senator J. Henry Walters, of Syracuse, who is a candidate for chairman of the Senate Committee, and Senator-elect A. S. Landon, of Dutchess County. Representative James A. Parker, of Washington County, was another caller.

Borough President Marks of Manhattan, with the Governor-elect for a long time to interest him in a bill that would enable the city to establish markets. He was told that this and other legislation was likely to come before the Governor for his signature. Mr. Whitman did not think it right that he should give an opinion in advance.

The Governor-elect has not decided yet just how far he will go in his legislative program. He is now gathering material. It is probable that there will be a series of messages during the time the Legislature is in session.

Mr. Whitman said yesterday he was not going to announce any appointments yet, but would probably do so Monday. The impression continues to prevail that William E. Hayward is likely to be named as personal counsel.

President of the State is so great that the Governor-elect will be unable to get away for a week-end trip to-day.

MEN AND WOMAN SNAPPED AT BY DOG

Animal That Starts Reign of Terror in West Side Run Down by Police.

A bulldog made two sorties from the New York Central freight yards, bit for bit, and was routed by a lot of boys with stones and it fled back into the freight yard. In the afternoon the animal suddenly appeared in the Columbus Boarding Station, at 690 West 46th st., where it began a reign of terror that included the territory between Eleventh and Twelfth ays. from 42d to 46th st.

The cat died in the morning, and later, before any one had seen it, it was found by a boy who was routed by a lot of boys with stones and it fled back into the freight yard. In the afternoon the animal suddenly appeared in the Columbus Boarding Station, at 690 West 46th st., where it began a reign of terror that included the territory between Eleventh and Twelfth ays. from 42d to 46th st.

The dog buried his teeth in Griffiths' hand and then dashed into the street before the stableman could get in a blow with his pitchfork.

From then on the excitement increased. Snarling and snapping, the dog continued down Eleventh av. with the entire thoroughfare to himself. At 42d st. Patrolman Byrnes, of the West 47th st. station, tried to intercept the animal, but succeeded only in diverting it west. The dog went to Twelfth av. then north to 43d st. and back to Eleventh av. without a victim. Meanwhile a steadily increasing crowd, led by Byrnes, who had obtained a rope, was in pursuit.

At Eleventh av. and 43d st. Thomas Dalton, of 554 West 43d st., was leading a posse. As the bull made a dash for it, he was kicked with his right foot. The strange dog's teeth went right through his shoe.

In front of 556 Eleventh av. an elderly woman, leading a fox terrier, tried to avoid the bulldog, but her dress was torn to shreds and the terrier was bitten. Byrnes finally cornered the dog in a hallway at 625 West 46th st.

Griffiths and Dalton were taken to the Willard Parker Hospital for Past-treatment.

WHITMAN AGAIN IN BECKER CASE

As Governor, Prosecutor Must Hear Appeal if Conviction Is Sustained.

Martin T. Manton, counsel for Lieutenant Charles Becker, announced yesterday he had received the printed record of the trial for presentation to the Court of Appeals. But that the brief for the convicted murderer could not be completed until well into the new year. The printed record makes four volumes of 600 pages each.

Delay in filing the brief brings about an unusual situation. After January 1 Judge Seabury, who presided at the Becker trial, will be a member of the Court of Appeals, but under the circumstances will not sit on the Becker case. District Attorney Whitman, who prosecuted Becker at both trials, and who took charge of the case on the morning of the murder, when it appeared as though the police would wreck it, will be Governor, and it is to him that Becker will have to appeal if clemency in the event that the Court of Appeals sustains the conviction in the lower court.

VOORHIS CLEARED BY GLYNN EDICT

Charges Made by Honest Ballot Association Dismissed by Governor.

SUPERINTENDENT PRAISED IN REPORT

Election Official Will Retire from Office at the First of the Year.

Albany, Dec. 3.—The charges against John R. Voorhis, State Superintendent of Elections, preferred by the Honest Ballot Association, were dismissed to-day by Governor Glynn on the recommendation of his commissioner, John D. McMahon. The commissioner's report not only completely whitewashed the elections superintendent, but honored him with a flowery eulogy on his fitness and past record.

"He is strong, physically active and firm," says the report. "His testimony at the hearing was given in a straightforward manner and his action and demeanor were characterized by earnestness and truthfulness."

The report of Mr. Voorhis for ability and honest and efficient discharge of official duties is attested by the commission republished in his report of forty years by men in high station, having the selection and appointment of officials."

The charges against Mr. Voorhis were: "That he appointed unfit deputies, that he assigned these deputies to districts where they lived."

"That he and his deputies failed to use their powers to insure fair elections."

"That he refused to investigate charges of fraudulent registration."

"That he refused to furnish the names of deputies or tell where they were assigned."

"That he and his deputies harassed and embarrassed the investigators of the Honest Ballot Association."

"That he was willfully negligent and grossly unfit."

Judge McMahon recommended that everyone be dismissed. He said that the election deputies were "men of intelligence and possessed of all the qualifications to perform their duties." He found no evidence that Voorhis appointed deputies to districts where they lived, or that he refused to investigate charges of fraudulent registration. He upheld the superintendent's appointment of deputies in districts in which they lived. He declared that the evidence taken by him showed that every charge of fraudulent registration had been investigated and that he could find no evidence to sustain the charge that Voorhis permitted deputies to interfere with watchers of the Honest Ballot Association.

"The appointment of Voorhis was one that never should have been made," said Robert Binkerd, secretary of the Honest Ballot Association. "His conduct in office was most reprehensible, and demonstrated again and again his absolute unfitness."

"Will new charges be filed after the first of January?" he was asked. "No," said Mr. Binkerd, "the one pleasing feature of the situation is that that will be unnecessary. Voorhis goes out of office on that date."

NO AUTO ROAD IN PALISADES PARK

Commission Anxious to Preserve Cliffs in Nearly Natural State.

Fears of the Appalachian Mountain Club that an automobile boulevard was to be constructed along the shore under the Palisades, which caused a protest to the Palisades Interstate Commission, have been dispelled by the reply of George W. Perkins, for the commission.

"This matter has been under consideration for a number of years," wrote Mr. Perkins, "and has been postponed one time after another for various reasons, the least important of which has been a feeling on the part of the commission that it was unwise to take any action on this subject."

The commission is now proceeding with great caution, the letter goes on, and the filling in at Englewood and Forest View roads necessary for the road will not be duplicated until it has been seen how these improvements work out from every point of view. At both places mentioned there are to be jagged rocks and boulders, referred to as proof of the merit of such protection for canoeists and owners of small boats.

"The work we are doing along the shore at other places," Mr. Perkins wrote, "is not for the purpose of building an automobile road, but to provide additional space for walks and picnic grounds. Rest assured that we are keenly alive to the importance of preserving the cliffs as nearly as possible in their natural state."

"At the same time, more and more people each year wish to go there, and we must naturally keep a little ahead of the demand for accommodations. If any road is built for automobilists, it will probably be in the nature of an automobile trail, that will permit vehicles to go through the park in a manner that will minimize the amount of disfigurement and annoyance to pedestrians and others."

BISHOP GREER DECRIES BIG NAVY

Backs President and Says Increase in Fighting Force Would Invite Attack.

The idea of a larger army and navy for the United States was deprecated yesterday by Bishop David H. Greer, head of the Episcopal Diocese of New York.

"I am in full sympathy with President Wilson's position that an unusual increase of our appropriations for defense at this time would impair our moral influence with the European nations."

"I believe that there is a moral force in this world that is stronger than many people suppose, and that, if we once trust to it, we shall find it very effective."

To build up an army and navy at this time against possible attack was to invite attack, Bishop Greer said, and added:

"What we need to-day is men in public affairs with vision and courage to take the stand that moral sentiment throughout the world would put a stop to war."

J. B. HARRIMAN BURIED

Mayor and Other Prominent Persons Attend Funeral.

Brucere Censures Past Methods in Dealing with Crime Here.

BLAMES MILITARISM FOR LIMITED WORK

Mitchell Lauds Aqueduct Work and Carnegie Talks on 'New Worlds' at Meeting.

The discussion and papers at the sessions of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers yesterday were on the subject of public service.

Mayor Mitchell opened the morning session and Andrew Carnegie and John Albert Brashear, president-elect of the society, gave informal talks. Henry Bruere, City Chamberlain, read a paper on "The Future of the Police Department," which attracted considerable attention.

Mayor Mitchell commented upon the number of engineers in the public service, and said their work was the backbone of the city. He spoke of the Catskill Aqueduct, comparing it to the Panama Canal as an engineering achievement.

Mr. Carnegie referred to the astronomical subjects and told his hearers that 176 of the world had been discovered recently by the astronomers—and the count hadn't stopped yet.

Mr. Brashear told of a book on astronomy that he and Mr. Carnegie had collaborated upon, and said it would soon be ready for publication. There would be no charge for the book, he said.

City Chamberlain Bruere severely criticized past police methods and administration, but asserted that needed reforms were already in process of realization under the present administration.

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

BARES WEAK 'POLICE ARM' TO ENGINEERS

Brucere Censures Past Methods in Dealing with Crime Here.

BLAMES MILITARISM FOR LIMITED WORK

Mitchell Lauds Aqueduct Work and Carnegie Talks on 'New Worlds' at Meeting.

The discussion and papers at the sessions of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers yesterday were on the subject of public service.

Mayor Mitchell opened the morning session and Andrew Carnegie and John Albert Brashear, president-elect of the society, gave informal talks. Henry Bruere, City Chamberlain, read a paper on "The Future of the Police Department," which attracted considerable attention.

Mayor Mitchell commented upon the number of engineers in the public service, and said their work was the backbone of the city. He spoke of the Catskill Aqueduct, comparing it to the Panama Canal as an engineering achievement.

Mr. Carnegie referred to the astronomical subjects and told his hearers that 176 of the world had been discovered recently by the astronomers—and the count hadn't stopped yet.

Mr. Brashear told of a book on astronomy that he and Mr. Carnegie had collaborated upon, and said it would soon be ready for publication. There would be no charge for the book, he said.

City Chamberlain Bruere severely criticized past police methods and administration, but asserted that needed reforms were already in process of realization under the present administration.

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

"Police work has heretofore, in the main, been directed to repairing the wear and tear of social friction, instead of obviating the causes of friction," he said. "Exceptions are the department of police, particularly at the lack of any systematic or scientific methods for the prevention of crime on the part of the Police Department."

SPERRY STABILIZER SHOWN TO EXPERTS

Device to Keep Aeroplanes on Even Keel Not "Foolproof."

GYROSCOPE PLAN WON $10,000 PRIZE

Mechanical Device Does Not Yet Realize in Full Hope of All Aviators.

The first opportunity afforded for an